Dead bodies everywhere SOLUTION!!! :: Cities:
Skylines ...

Hi all, I'm almost TOTALLY sure that I've solved the "Dead Bodies Everywhere" problem. As I got more money I decided to empty and bulldoze all my cemeteries and replace them with crematoriums, which I thought would be more efficient. The result of this was that I ended up with lots of dead bodies absolutely everywhere in the city and people abandoning buildings and moving out of the city as a result of not wanting to live surrounded by dead bodies.

This in turn resulted in total economic

Dead People, Dead People Everywhere! :: Cities:
Skylines ...

I've been playing this several weeks now, and I've built numerous maps. They all end up in the same situation. I fixed the garbage problem with policies, but this dead bodies thing seems like a major AI bug. There's no reason for all the carnage, no pollution, good road systems, plenty of crematoriums. This is a game killer for me. I'm going to put away the game and come back in a few months to see if they fixed the bug. I'd just like to play the game and grow the city without having to deal

Dead people problem (SOLVED!) r/CitiesSkylines - reddit

If it were more realistic, hearses would only belong to funeral homes and would only pick bodies up at the hospital because the dead bodies would be picked up by ambulances and taken to the hospital.

cities skylines - Why is everyone dead? - Arqade

I have been playing cities skylines for a while now and every now and again my city goes through the 'plague', where pretty much the entire city falls sick (see image below). My water pollution is 0% and have more than sufficient crematoriums to accommodate the dead. A few google searches point to water pollution but that is not the issue here Any ideas what could be going on?
