Cytotoxic T cell - Wikipedia

A cytotoxic T cell (also known as TC, cytotoxic T lymphocyte, CTL, T-killer cell, cytolytic T cell, CD8+ T-cell or killer T cell) is a T lymphocyte (a type of white blood cell) that kills cancer cells, cells that are infected (particularly with viruses), or cells that are damaged in other ways.

Cytotoxic T cells have the ability to - science.answers.com

A cytotoxic T cell kills cells that have been infected by a virus or bacterium. It does this by puncturing the cell's membrane and by emitting a toxin that kills cells.

Chapter 22 Flashcards | Quizlet

Cytotoxic T cells produce perforin, which makes holes in cell membrane of infected cells The secondary immune response to a previously encountered pathogen is swifter and stronger than the primary immune response.

Difference Between T Helper and T Cytotoxic Cells | T ...

The key difference between T helper cells and cytotoxic cells is that helper T cells are involved in coordination of the immune response against the pathogen with B cells and other T cells while cytotoxic cells directly kill or destroy cancer cells and antigen infected cells.

Killer T Cells

What are CTLs, or killer T-cells? Cytotoxic T lymphocytes (CTLs) are a subset of T-cells that usually express the CD8 co-receptor and have the ability to directly kill infected cells.

Cytotoxic T cells attached to several different target cells reorient their secretory apparatus toward each cell in turn and kill them one by one, strongly suggesting that the mechanism whereby cytotoxic mediators are released allows attack at only one point of contact at any one time.

However, because T-cells have evolved not to attack our own tissue in order to limit autoimmune disease, T-cell responses to cancer, which develops from our own tissue, are poor. In order to resolve this problem, we have developed strategies to build T-cells with an artificially improved ability to target and eliminate cancer cells. By generating artificial T-cells, which have been optimised
